The trio arrived in Harrisburg at midnight Thursday where they met their daughter and son-in-law. It was the first time in 2 1/2 years that Mr. Hartland and his son had seen Mrs. Shealer. Mrs. Hartland visited her daughter here last summer.

Only one member of the Hartland family remains in England, Terence Hartland. He and his wife hope to be able to come to the United States sometime later.

The three were among the 1,815 passengers who arrived aboard the Cunard White Star liner Queen Mary when it embarked in New York after a five-day voyage from Southampton, England.

"Where To?" was the theme of the baccalaureate sermon preached by the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, pastor of Redeemer's Reformed church, to the graduates of the Littlestown high school on Sunday evening in the high school auditorium.

"If we would travel in the right direction," he said, "we must avoid quarrels, but when they come, as they will, we must avoid hasty decisions arising out of them. Another danger to be avoided is choosing the easy path and to think only of one's self." In conclusion the speaker said: "One of the greatest errors in human thinking is for a person to imagine he can rise on the misfortunes of others."

The procession entered the auditorium while Miss Shirley Hawk played "America the Beautiful," headed by the members of the ministerium, followed by the school board, the faculty, the senior, junior and sophomore classes. The Rev. John C. Brumbach, pastor of Christ Reformed, offered the invocation which was followed by the audience singing, "Beautiful Saviour" with Miss Nancy Myers as pianist. Fire believed to have originated over a fireplace in the kitchen, caused an estimated $2,000 damage to the farm home of Melvin V. Coleman two miles north of Gettysburg on the Biglerville road early this morning.

The Gettysburg Fire department was called at 2 o'clock, and upon arrival found the kitchen and a loft over it in flames and the fire breaking through the roof.

Booster lines from the fire apparatus were used, and booster tanks were refilled from a spring at the rear of the dwelling. Fire damage was confined to the rear of the house, but smoke damaged the entire dwelling.

The fire was discovered when the family was aroused by the smoke. Mr. Coleman, who operates a welding shop on the premises, purchased the old Cashtown fire truck several months ago. He used this truck to fight the fire until he ran out of gasoline.

The Coleman property is the former Hollinger farm, known earlier as the Samuel Cobean farm.

3 BRITISHERS JOIN DAUGHTER IN GETTYSBURG

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hartland and Raymond Hartland, parents and brother of Mrs. Leonard Shealer, 25 Steinwehr avenue, have arrived here from England, and are for the present visiting with the Shealers. They hope to remain permanently in the United States as residents of Gettysburg.

The trio arrived in Harrisburg at midnight Thursday where they met their daughter and son-in-law. It was the first time in 2½ years that Mr. Hartland and his son had seen Mrs. Shealer. Mrs. Hartland visited her daughter here last summer.

Only one member of the Hartland family remains in England, Terence Hartland. He and his wife hope to be able to come to the United States sometime later.

The three were among the 1,815 passengers who arrived aboard the Cunard White Star liner Queen Mary when it embarked in New York after a five-day voyage from Southampton, England.

Served In Navy

The Hartlands were residents of Stockingford, Muneton, Warwickshire, England. Mr. Hartland operated a paper-hanging business there and Raymond Hartland for the past two years has been a member of the English navy. The 20-year-old youth was discharged from the navy seven weeks ago.

Sunday the Shealers took Mr. and Mrs. Hartland and Raymond Hartland on a tour of this section to acquaint them with the surroundings of their new home county. They reported today that "things are much worse in England now than they were during the war, and worse than when Mrs. Shealer came here" to join her husband whom she married in England.

There is less clothing, less food and less everything in England now than there was two years ago, they said.

BACCALAUREATE SERVICE IS HELD AT LITTLESTOWN

"Where To?" was the theme of the baccalaureate sermon preached by the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, pastor of Redeemer's Reformed church, to the graduates of the Littlestown high school on Sunday evening in the high school auditorium.

"If we would travel in the right direction," he said, "we must avoid quarrels, but when they come, as they will, we must avoid hasty decisions arising out of them. Another danger to be avoided is choosing the easy path and to think only of one's self." In conclusion the speaker said: "One of the greatest errors in human thinking is for a person to imagine he can rise on the misfortunes of others."

The procession entered the auditorium while Miss Shirley Hawk played "America the Beautiful," headed by the members of the ministerium, followed by the school board, the faculty, the senior, junior and sophomore classes. The Rev. John C. Brumbach, pastor of Christ Reformed, offered the invocation which was followed by the audience singing, "Beautiful Saviour" with Miss Nancy Myers as pianist. ## CONCRETE WORK ON U.S. 30 STOPS

Work on the construction on a concrete and steel bridge over Marsh creek near Hilltown was suspended last Friday on orders of the state because the contractor was using stone that failed to meet state grading specifications.

Other work on the job was not affected but concrete work on the Fayetteville section of the Lincoln highway reconstruction work also was suspended on the same order.

Contractors said that they were ordered to suspend operations because their stone supply contained more than the minimum 5 per cent allowable flat-stone content.

Spokesmen for Adams and Franklin county quarries said that they were not equipped to produce stone to meet the specifications.

The highway job involves a 15-mile stretch of U. S. 30 between McKnightstown and Fayetteville, much of it over a new route. The total cost is estimated at approximately $4,000,000.

HITS SNIPING BY GOP CANDIDATES
Philadelphia, May 22 (AP)—Pennsylvania's Gov. James H. Duff said contenders for the Republican presidential nomination should stop sniping at each other and save tactics for the Democrats in the November election.
Speaking last night to party leaders from all over the state who will attend today's state Republican committee meeting, the governor declared: "I have never heard as much viciousness about candidates for the Republican party as we have this year."
His remarks apparently referred to the bitter exchanges during the past weeks between Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, two of the leading rivals for the GOP presidential nomination.
Duff said there has "been too much spreading of venom among ourselves instead of spending that venom against the opposition."
"Fundamentally," the governor added, "that is a tremendous mistake." He warned party workers against taking it for granted the Republicans will win the presidency and said the balloting must be taken "seriously" under a united front if victory is to be achieved. "No group is big enough to ignore the necessity of a united front," he declared.

HOUTZ BLANKS DELAWARE FOR BULLETS, 7-0

Nine errors by Delaware turned what might have been a close game into a comparatively easy 7-0 victory for Coach Ira Plank's Gettysburg college nine here Saturday afternoon.

Joe Pennock, son of the late Herb Pennock, major league star, was the victim of the miscues. He permitted the Bullets to hit four times while Delaware secured six off Kenn Houtz. Houtz hurled superb ball throughout, spacing the Mud Hen safeties and never being in danger.

The Bullets' first score came in the second frame on three errors by the victors. Three more runs came in the third. Houtz walked. Novak fanned but Tony Cervino drew another base on balls. Joe Cervino then singled to right and both runners scored when O'Toole allowed the ball to get away from him. Cervino winding up at third. Ecker then scored Cervino on a bunt.

Walks to Cauffman and Houtz and a single by Novak produced the Bullets' fifth run in the fourth. Three more errors, a pair of bases on balls and a steal of home by Joe Cervino gave Gettysburg its last runs in the seventh.

The Bullets gave Houtz fine fielding support, including a pair of double plays. Joe Cervino handled 12 chances flawlessly at second base.

The victory was the 10th in 12 tilts for the Plankmen who close their season by meeting Dickinson here next Saturday afternoon.

DODGERS DROP INTO CELLAR; A'S TAKE TWO

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
The managerial "hot seat" was sizzling today under Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Joe McCarthy of the Boston Red Sox.

Durocher's Dodgers struck rock bottom yesterday with a resounding crash that could be heard all around Brooklyn from Coney Island to the Gowanus Canal. They not only lost their eighth straight when they bowed to Cincinnati's Reds 6-5, but sank into the National League's cellar.

McCarthy's Red Sox were only a shade better off. A stunning double defeat dealt them by the tail-end Chicago White Sox dropped them into seventh place, only four lengths out of the American League's basement.

Joe Hatten of Brooklyn couldn't hold onto a 5-0 lead yesterday as the Cincinnati Reds stormed from behind to keno the California southpaw, and went on to hang the defeat upon Rookie Erv Palica. An eighth inning home run by Grady Hatton broke up a 5-5 tie. The win moved the Reds out of the cellar, eight percentage points in front of Brooklyn.

Two For White Sox
Pitching couldn't be blamed for the Red Sox's double dousing yesterday as late rallies gave the White Sox two 4-3 triumphs. Bob Kennedy's ninth inning single off Earl Johnson scored Pitcher Joe Haynes with the winning run in the first game. Joe Dobson's wild pitch enabled Don Kolloway to score the winning run in the 10th inning of the second game. Haynes and Earl Harist were the winning pitchers.

A record breaking Cleveland crowd of 7,431 saw Joe DiMaggio steal the thunder from his home town hero, Bob Feller, as the Yankees and Indians divided a double header. DiMaggio blasted three homers, his eighth, ninth and tenth of the season, to account for all his team's runs as the Yanks defeated Feller, 6-5, in the first game. With Don Black hurling Cleveland took the finale, 5-1. Ken Keltner, major league home run leader, hammered his 13th in the opener.

Dick Fowler and Rookie Lou Brissie pitched the Philadelphia Athletics to within a half-game of the American League leading Indians by twirling 7-3 and 8-1 victories over the Browns in St. Louis.

Walks Winning Run
Virgil Trucks walked pinch hitter Early Wynn with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning to force in Gil Coan with the run that gave Walter Masterson and the Washington Senators a 1-0 triumph over the Tigers in Detroit. Washington made only four hits to six for Detroit.

The National League leading St. Louis Cardinals pounded six Philadelphia pitchers for 31 hits to win a doubleheader from the Phillies, 18-3 and 4-1. Scoring in every inning but one, the Cards collected 17 hits in getting a season scoring high in the opener.

Larry Jansen pitched a four-hitter to notch his fifth victory of the season as the New York Giants defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-1, at the Polo grounds. Despite the victory, the Giants dropped a half-game to trail the Cards by three.

The Braves moved into a third place tie with Pittsburgh by downing the Chicago Cubs twice in Boston, 8-5 and 12-4.

Four teams, Orrtanna, York Springs, McSherrystown and Hanover, are deadlocked for the lead in the Adams County Baseball league as the result of games played Saturday afternoon.

The Gettysburg Legion dropped a 4-2 decision to McSherrystown on the latter's field which resolved itself into a pitching duel between Bud Knox and Bill Sherdel. After McSherrystown tabbed two runs in the first frame the teams went scoreless until the eighth when Gettysburg tabbed a run. The home team came back with a pair of runs to clinch the contest. Knox poked two of Gettysburg's five hits while F. Lawrence banged three to pace the seven-hit McSherrystown attack.

Orrtanna nosed out Bendersville 2-1 at Orrtanna, with Doyle Rebert hurling a two-hitter for the winners. Bendersville scored in the sixth on a pair of errors, sacrifice and a fly to the outfield. Orrtanna capped the game with a pair of runs in the seventh. L. Wetzel doubled to left and J. Wetzel doubled to a bunt along the first base line.

Herring ran for Wetzel when the latter was slightly injured in a collision with Bucher. Herring stole second base and both runners scored on Singlet's long double to center, his second double of the game.

Littleton pounded out 15 hits to record a 6-3 victory over Fairfield on the latter's field. Crouse and Maitland each secured three hits for the victors while Weikert poled three for Fairfield.

Hanover eked out a 4-3 decision over Emmitsburg at Hanover. York Springs handed New Oxford its first setback on the New Oxford diamond by a 5-2 count.

 ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Among the graduates at Princeton Theological Seminary, on the 18th inst., was the Rev. Wm. M. Paxton, son of Col. J. D. Paxton, of this county. He has accepted a call from the Presbyterian church at Greencastle.

The Locofoco National Convention assembled at Baltimore on the 22nd. They are holding sessions in the Universalist church. It is uncertain who will get the nomination; it is very evident, we think, that Mr. Buchanan's chance is a very slim one.

Married, On Tuesday, the 23rd inst., by the Rev. F. V. Gerhart, Mr. John Paxton, to Mrs. Sarah Wherry, both of Carroll county, Md. On the 18th inst., by the Rev. B. Keller, Mr. Henry Jerome Walter, to Miss Hannah Elizabeth Meals — both of this borough.

Gen. Scott at Home: This distinguished commander arrived on the morning of the 21st inst., at his home in the village of Elizabethtown (New Jersey). . . . The general is in excellent health. The Sabbath passed in quiet, but on Monday his reception was worthy of his friends, neighbors and countrymen, who had assembled to do him honor. Thousands poured in from the surrounding country to see him. A stage was erected in front of the court house, decorated with flags and at 8 o'clock a procession was formed, which defiled through a portion of the town. On returning to the stand, General Scott was addressed by the Mayor — to which he replied with much emotion. He said that he never left the borough without regret, nor returned to it without pleasure. Returning now from a scene of distant service, after enduring suffering by sea and land, he was deeply touched with the hearty welcome here given to him.

Pastoral Change: Rev. M. Snyder has resigned the pastoral charge of the Lutheran church at Arendtsville and accepted a call from the Abbottstown charge.

New Paper Mill Company: Some weeks ago a movement was inaugurated which promises to be of much importance in the northern end of the county. Experiments during the winter established the fact that printing paper of good marketable quality, as well as straw, manila and tea paper can be manufactured at remunerative rates at the paper mills owned by R. G. McCreary, Esq., near Arendtsville. The movement of which we speak resulted in the organization of a stock company, with a capital of $30,000, to purchase the mill and manufacture paper on a large scale. On Saturday the stockholders held their first meeting, and organized under the name of the "Conewago Paper Company," with the following officers:
 President — E. W. Stahle.
 Directors — R. G. McCreary, Esq., Hon. Edward McPherson, George Throne, Moses Raffensperger, Isaac Deardorff, George Montfort, Wm. A. Duncan, Esq.
 Secretary — R. G. McCreary.
 Treasurer — Wm. A. Duncan.
 The company proposes to commence operations immediately, by applying for a charter, putting in new machinery, having already engaged the services of an experienced paper manufacturer as superintendent of the mill.

Married: Bigham—McCarney. On the 6th inst., by Wm. B. Meals, Esq., Mr. Harvey J. Bigham to Miss Sadie McCarney, both of Fairfield, this county.

BED ROCK

It is interesting to see constructors of great buildings excavating for the foundations that must hold mammoth structures. They have to go to bed rock to do so, else those foundations would never hold their gigantic weight.

So essential is it to get to the very bottom of a great question or problem, it has become a common expression to say "get down to bed rock" in a discussion of vast importance. We are all familiar with the story of the Bible of the man who built his house upon a rock—so that no winds nor storms disturbed it.

The character of a man is his greatest credential. If it is founded upon solid principles of honesty, justice and sterling worth he will be respected by all, and a welcomed man everywhere he goes. He'll lose no time in hunting a life job. The job will be after him with speed!

The basis of all great art is good drawing—seeing the essentials as they are, and then adding one's interpretation. Alphonse Legros, the great French-English artist, once stated before his art class that anyone who could draw could attempt anything in art. He proved this statement by his own experience. He was a great sculptor, painter, draftsman in every medium, magnificent etcher and lithographer. A noted commentator once said of Legros that he improved everything in art that he touched—and that he touched everything! He began at bed rock.

There is a tendency these days for many a youth to neglect the great and important steps in the foundation of character and a useful life. He wants to get things without digging for them. He bites at the bit when it comes to spending the essential period of training for the big job ahead. It's first getting down to bed rock before any notable or useful career can be achieved. Ever note the speed with which the great building rises—after the foundation has been set upon bed rock?

I have just finished reading a book that it took the author years to write, so careful he was to get his facts, his characters and locations correctly prepared. But the fame of that book has lasted over a hundred years, and will live for so long as great writing is respected. That's what happens when you place your foundations upon solid bed rock. Nothing else is safe or successful.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "For the Love of Animals"

PEACEFUL STREETS
 Every town has many a street
 Where at peace the neighbors dwell.

Protestant and Catholic meet
 With the greeting: "Hope you're well!"

And on one should sorrow fall,
 Jew and Gentile come to call.

Should a child of one be ill,
 Other mothers offer aid.
 At the evening hour, there will
 Several forms of prayer be made.
 All that one is asked to bear,
 Those who live nearby will share.

Strange that on a peaceful street
 Many a difference is forgot.
 But when groups and nations meet
 Hatred rules and love cannot.
 Where are sympathetic hearts
 Peace abides and strife departs.

France has passed through another revolution, exchanged rulers, this time without bloodshed. M. Thiers having finally declared for a Republic and modified his cabinet accordingly, the Imperialist, Bourbon and Orleans factions in the National Assembly united in a determined effort to oust Thiers from the presidency. On a test vote on Saturday, the Republicans found themselves in a minority of 14, whereupon Thiers resigned. The monarchist factions, determined to make the most of their victory, forced a vote for a successor, without adjourning the Assembly, and amid intense excitement elected Marshal MacMahon president of the Republic. The latter has been classed as a Bonapartist, but has not yet indicated a policy. Sooner or later the Republic must come, in fact as well as name, to France, if peace is to abide. Neither the empire or monarchy can be re-established without violence or bloodshed. (Editorial) which could cause the loss of it. It appears that the owner or occupant of this barn was keeping several of these electric dynamite caps at what he thought was a safe place in his bar, and that he cautioned his own children not to handle them because of the danger. Apparently such caution to children invites some of them to investigate the danger and to tell other children about the presence of such danger. Among such children, there may always be one or more who will disregard the warning.

"By reason of the danger involved, restrictive laws have been passed by the Pennsylvania Legislature from time to time, regulating the purchase, possession, storage, use and handling of explosives, and also authorizing the Department of Labor and Industry to pass rules and regulations having the binding effect of State law.

which storage licenses must be obtained from the Department annually. Records are required to be kept by the person storing explosives which will show the disposition made thereof, and they shall be open to the inspection of appropriate State officials.

Heavy Penalties
 "Various penalties are provided for the violation of this law and these rules and regulations, which range as high as $1,000 and one year imprisonment.

"Other relevant provisions of the rules and regulations require that the storage licenses shall be posted conspicuously in the vicinity of the storage magazine, regulate the location and construction of such magazines for safety purposes; and the premises on which explosives are stored must be conspicuously marked by signs "EXPLOSIVES—KEEP OFF." The appropriate fire department must be notified of the fact of storage. It is required that no explosives be left anywhere unless they are stored in a magazine appropriately constructed, or in charge of responsible persons. Blasting caps and explosives shall not be carried in pockets, nor shall they be left around where children or others can meddle with them. They shall not be stored, used or handled near a residence.

Referred for Investigation
 "Special requirements are imposed in respect to the use of explosives, requiring that they be used and controlled only by responsible and competent persons, and that definite appropriate warning be made in advance of any blasting operations.

"Lack of knowledge or disregard of these and other rules and regulations have led to the two accidents within the last several months, accidents which have permanently maimed and handicapped the boys involved. The facts of these two accidents and their consequences have been related to the Department of Labor and Industry for appropriate investigation and prosecution.

It is suggested that before any persons purchase, use and store dynamite, blasting caps and other explosives, they should be sure that they know how to handle and store same and that they will comply with the appropriate laws, for failure of which they may be subject to criminal prosecution and also be liable to pay any damages for the injuries involved."

SUDAN GRASS FOR EMERGENCIES

Among non-leguminous forage plants, Sudan grass is one of the better drought-resistant crops for emergency pasturage. It is an annual and reaches grazing size within four weeks after seeding. It thrives on a wide range of soil types and provides a timely, nutritious addition to forage supplies in mid-summer when regular (permanent) pastures usually begin to wane under the rigors of hot, dry weather.

The chief objection to Sudan grass as a pasture crop comes from the fact that occasional cases of livestock poisoning have resulted from its use. This, however, is not a justifiable reason for omitting this grass from emergency pasture plans. Precautions include two simple grazing rules to avoid animal fatalities or illness from this source—Do not graze animals on Sudan grass after the plants have died from excessive droughts; Do not pasture this grass after frost kills the plants or even wilts them. In other words, eating the dying or wilting grass is the danger, not the fact that Sudan grass itself is a menace.

In normal years milk production and livestock gains in general decline after the flush of spring pasturage begins to pass with the toughening of pasture plants and decrease in plant volume. Too, at the

Gardening Activities Listed For Late May

This is the time in the vicinity of New York to sow seeds of vine crops such as melons, squash, and cucumbers.

Plant lettuce, onions, radishes, Swiss chard, parsley, parsnips, beets, early cabbage, carrots, kohlrabi, mustard, turnips broccoli, Brussels sprouts, celery, endive, salsify snap beans, corn, New Zealand spinach, tampa and okra.

Set out tomato plants, eggplants and pepper plants, but be prepared to protect them against a late frost. A week after setting them out, apply a rotenone or nicotine dust to tomato and egg plants to protect them from insect damage.

Protect young plants just set out from cutworms by placing paper collars around the stems. To insure a long season of bloom, plant gladiolus corms at two of three-week intervals until the end of June.

Leave your spring-flowering bulbs undisturbed until the tops have turned yellow and died down.

Stake peony plants before the buds weigh down the stalks. When cutting peonies for indoor display, leave some leaves on the stems to assure blooming next year.

PERENNIALS CAN DO WELL IN POOR SOIL

The larger the garden the more difficult it is to keep the soil in a high state of productivity, partly because of the time needed to make the improvements and partly because of the expense, says Alfred Putz in the New York Herald Tribune. Under such circumstances it is far better to concentrate on a limited area instead of spreading the applications of fertilizer and humus so thin that no part of the garden derives a worth-while benefit.

The question then arises of what to do with the beds and borders that did not receive their share of attention. Planting hardy perennials which nature has endowed with the ability to grow satisfactorily in quite poor soil is the logical solution. First in the alphabet in Achillea, popularly known as Milfoil or Yarrow. One may choose millefolium roseum for its rose-pink flowers borne on eighteen-inch stems from July to September. Plurima Boule de Neige has large snowy white flowers. This grows about two feet tall and blooms at the same time as millefolium. Tomentosa, with bright yellow flowers, is only eight inches tall and makes a good display during June and July. Filipendula Cloth of Gold is another good yellow summer bloomer three feet tall.

Cornflower Good Bloomer Agrostemma coronaria, the Mullein Pink, has brilliant rose-crimson flowers from June to August on plants a little more than two feet in height. Its woolly, silvery gray foliage is also very ornamental. There is a white-flowered form, too, which is attractive. Artemisia Silver King, well known as Ghost-

This grass likes a fairly mellow loam—not a hard and shallow soil. In most cases 300 to 400 pounds of a complete fertilizer per acre is profitably beneficial. Around 20 to 25 pounds of seed per acre is advised. The chief rule in planning sowing time is well known to all experienced growers—Do not sow Sudan grass until the soil is warm. The second may be added in relation to its management—Do not allow the grass to grow tall and woody before pasturing it. This means that seeding should be postponed to within one month of the date when the field is to be pastured.

Should a prolonged drought occur this summer, the farmer who has a few acres of emergency Sudan grass will enjoy freedom from difficulties which beset all who must depend on regular pastures.

the show here, the board also decided to start construction of a freezing and packing plant in or near Gettysburg as soon as the supply of rabbits in this section warrants it. For the present the club, the only commercial breeders group in Pennsylvania, is seeking to promote additional interest in the raising of rabbits here. At Sunday's session the group received word from several Washington hotels asking if the hotels could be supplied with rabbits. The number sought, however, was larger than the number available at the present time.

Judges selected for the October show are: L. T. Ritter, Ellicott City, Md.; W. T. Thompson, Reisters-town; Kermit Dreher, Allentown, and Harry Newman, of California. Judging will start at 12 noon on October 22. At 8 p. m. James Newman, Catonsville, Md., will demonstrate the killing, dressing and packing of rabbit meat, care of skins and proper methods of keeping records, housing, feeding and marketing. On Saturday, October 23, judging of the entries will be completed. At 7 p. m. that evening contests will be held for the best dressed pen of three fryers dressed at the show, best dressed bakers and speediest dressing of three rabbits.

To Exhibit At Fair
Also on Saturday at 7:30 p. m. another discussion on housing, feeding and marketing will be held and at 9 p. m. a public auction of junior breeders stock will be held.

Sunday, October 24, at 10 a. m. the group will tour the battlefield and at 12 noon a dinner will be served the exhibitors with Judge Newman as the principal speaker. The directors also decided to exhibit rabbits at the South Mountain Fair and elected six Franklin county breeders to membership in the association.

Plans for an educational meeting June 17 at the home of Orville Myers at St. Thomas were also outlined. The next meeting of the board will be held June 20 at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Gen. Scott at Home: This distinguished commander arrived on the morning of the 21st inst., at his home in the village of Elizabethtown (New Jersey) . . . The general is in excellent health. The Sabbath passed in quiet, but on Monday his reception was worthy of his friends, neighbors and countrymen, who had assembled to do him honor. Thousands poured in from the surrounding country to see him. A stage was erected in front of the court house, decorated with flags and at 8 o'clock a procession was formed, which defiled through a portion of the town. On returning to the stand, General Scott was addressed by the Mayor — to which he replied with much emotion. He said that he never left the borough without regret, nor returned to it without pleasure. Returning now from a scene of distant service, after enduring suffering by sea and land, he was deeply touched with the hearty welcome here given to him.

New Paper Mill Company: Some weeks ago a movement was inaugurated which promises to be of much importance in the northern end of the county. Experiments during the winter established the fact that printing paper of good marketable quality, as well as straw, manila and tea paper can be manufactured at remunerative rates at the paper mills owned by R. G. McCreary, Esq., near Arendtsville. The movement of which we speak resulted in the organization of a stock company, with a capital of $30,000, to purchase the mill and manufacture paper on a large scale. On Saturday the stockholders held their first meeting and organized under the name of the "Conewago Paper Company," with the following officers:

President — E. W. Stahlke
Directors — R. G. McCreary, Esq., Hon. Edward McPherson, George Throne, Moses Raftensperger, Isaac Deardorff, George Monfort, Wm. A. Duncan, Esq.

Secretary — R. G. McCreary
Treasurer — Wm. A. Duncan

The company proposes to commence operations immediately, by applying for a charter, putting in new machinery, having already engaged the services of an experienced paper manufacturer as superintendent of the mill.

Today's Talk

BED ROCK

It is interesting to see constructors of great buildings excavating for the foundations that must hold mammoth structures. They have to go to bed rock to do so, else those foundations would never hold their gigantic weight.

So essential is it to get to the very bottom of a great question or problem, it has become a common expression to say "get down to bed rock" in a discussion of vast importance. We are all familiar with the story of the Bible of the man who built his house upon a rock—so that no winds nor storms disturbed it.

The character of a man is his greatest credential. If it is founded upon solid principles of honesty, justice and sterling worth he will be respected by all, and a welcomed man everywhere he goes. He'll lose no time in hunting a life job. The job will be after him with speed!

The basis of all great art is good drawing—seeing the essentials as they are, and then adding one's interpretation. Alphonsus Legros, the great French-English artist, once stated before his art class that anyone who could draw could attempt anything in art. He proved this statement by his own experience. He was a great sculptor, painter, draftsman in every medium, magnificent etcher and lithographer. A noted commentator once said of Legros that he improved everything in art that he touched—and that he touched everything! He began at bed rock.

There is a tendency these days for many a youth to neglect the great and important steps in the foundation of character and a useful life. He wants to get things without digging for them. He bites at the bit when it comes to spending the essential period of training for the big job ahead. It's first getting down to bed rock before any notable or useful career can be achieved. Ever note the speed with which the great building rises—after the foundation has been set upon bed rock?

I have just finished reading a book that it took the author years to write, so careful he was to get his facts, his characters and locations correctly prepared. But the fame of that book has lasted over a hundred years, and will live for so long as great writing is respected. That's what happens when you place your foundations upon solid bed rock. Nothing else is safe or successful.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "For the Love of Animals"

PEACEFUL STREETS
Every town has many a street
Where at peace the neighbors dwell.

Protestant and Catholic meet
With the greeting: "Hope you're well!"

And on one should sorrow fall,
Jew and Gentile come to call.

Should a child of one be ill,
Other mothers offer aid.

At the evening hour, there will
Several forms of prayer be made.

All that one is asked to bear,
Those who live nearby will share.

Strange that on a peaceful street
Many a difference is fought.

But when groups and nations meet
Hatred rules and love cannot.

Where are sympathetic hearts
Peace abides and strife departs.

France has passed through another revolution, exchanged rulers, this time without bloodshed. M. Thiers having finally declared for a Republic and modified his cabinet accordingly, the Imperialist, Bourbon and Orleans factions in the National Assembly united in a determined effort to oust Thiers from the presidency. On a test vote on Saturday, the Republicans found themselves in a minority of 14, whereupon Thiers resigned. The monarchist factions, determined to make the most of their victory, forced a vote for a successor, without adjourning the Assembly, and amid intense excitement elected Marshal MacMahon president of the Republic. The latter has been classed as a Bonapartist, but has not yet indicated a policy. Sooner or later the Republic must come, in fact as well as name to France, if peace is to abide. Neither the empire or monarchy can be re-established without violence or bloodshed. Editorial.

Fatal Accident. Miss Matilda P. DeCrans, sister of Mrs. D. C. McCann, of this place, died in Philadelphia, on the 19th inst., of injuries sustained a few weeks previous in Fairmount Park. She went out to ride with a gentleman who drove a very spirited team that became unmanageable upon hearing the whistle of a locomotive.

which could cause the loss of it. It appears that the owner or occupant of this barn was keeping several of these electric dynamite caps at what he thought was a safe place in his barn, and that he cautioned his own children not to handle them because of the danger. Apparently such caution to children invites some of them to investigate the danger and to tell other children about the presence of such danger. Among such children, there may always be one or more who will disregard the warning.

"By reason of the danger involved, restrictive laws have been passed by the Pennsylvania Legislature from time to time, regulating the purchase, possession, storage, use and handling of explosives, and also authorizing the Department of Labor and Industry to pass rules and regulations having the binding effect of State law.

"Among the relevant provisions of these laws and regulations is the requirement that no person, including corporations or associations, shall manufacture, store or have in his possession any explosive in this state, until all requirements of these laws and rules and regulations are complied with. All persons storing explosives, or having them in their possession, must first make certain reports to the Department of Labor and Industry, and storage can be made only in magazines which comply with the regulations of the Department of Labor and Industry, for which storage licenses must be obtained from the Department annually. Records are required to be kept by the person storing explosives which will show the disposition made thereof, and they shall be open to the inspection of appropriate State officials.

Heavy Penalties
"Various penalties are provided for the violation of this law and these rules and regulations, which range as high as $1,000 and one year imprisonment.

"Other relevant provisions of the rules and regulations require that the storage licenses shall be posted conspicuously in the vicinity of the storage magazine, regulate the location and construction of such magazines for safety purposes; and the premises on which explosives are stored must be conspicuously marked by signs "EXPLOSIVES—KEEP OFF." The appropriate fire department must be notified of the fact of storage. It is required that no explosives be left anywhere unless they are stored in a magazine appropriately constructed, or in charge of responsible persons. Blasting caps and explosives shall not be carried in pockets, nor shall they be left around where children or others can meddle with them. They shall not be stored, used or handled near a residence.

Referred for Investigation
"Special requirements are imposed in respect to the use of explosives, requiring that they be used and controlled only by responsible and competent persons, and that definite appropriate warning be made in advance of any blasting operations.

"Lack of knowledge or disregard of these and other rules and regulations have led to the two accidents within the last several months, accidents which have permanently maimed and handicapped the boys involved. The facts of these two accidents and their consequences have been related to the Department of Labor and Industry for appropriate investigation and prosecution. It is suggested that before any persons purchase, use and store dynamite, blasting caps and other explosives, they should be sure that they know how to handle and store same and that they will comply with the appropriate laws, for failure of which they may be subject to criminal prosecution and also be liable to pay any damages for the injuries involved."

SUDAN GRASS FOR EMERGENCIES

Among non-leguminous forage plants, Sudan grass is one of the better drought-resistant crops for emergency pasturage. It is an annual and reaches grazing size within four weeks after seeding. It thrives on a wide range of soil types and provides a timely, nutritious addition to forage supplies in mid-summer when regular (permanent) pastures usually begin to wane under the rigors of hot, dry weather.

The chief objection to Sudan grass as a pasture crop comes from the fact that occasional cases of livestock poisoning have resulted from its use. This, however, is not a justifiable reason for omitting this grass from emergency pasture plans. Precautions include two simple grazing rules to avoid animal fatalities or illness from this source—Do not graze animals on Sudan grass after the plants have died from excessive droughts; do not pasture this grass after frost kills the plants or even wilts them. In other words, eating the dying or wilting grass is the danger, not the fact that Sudan grass itself is a menace.

In normal years milk production and livestock gains in general decline after the flush of spring pasturage begins to pass with the toughening of pasture plants and decrease in plant volume. Too, at the

CHIANG NAMES MINING EXPERT TO BE PREMIER

By HAROLD K. MILKS
Nanking, May 24 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek, in an apparent effort to set in order China's troubled political house, today chose Wong Wen-Hao as the nation's premier.

The surprise nomination of the 59-year-old Canada-educated geologist and former minister of economic affairs came as the generalissimo faced the most serious internal challenge to his leadership in two decades.

The legislative Yuan went into session to consider confirmation of the appointment.

Many had been mentioned as possible successors to ailing Chang Chun who resigned the premiership recently—but not Wong. Wong has been inconspicuous in China's political scene for the past two years, although he is chairman of the national resources commission.

Only yesterday, it seemed that the confused and prolonged attempt to organize China's first constitutional cabinet would be delayed further. Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, former head of China's military mission to the United Nations, reported he had rejected the post. Chiang offered it to him after talks with a number of prominent politicians who may or may not have been offered the job themselves.

Others Considered

Those included Wang Chung-Hui, author of the new constitution under which Chiang was elected China's first constitutional president; and Mayor K. C. Wu of Shanghai.

However, when General Ho turned it down highly placed sources said it represented opposition to Chiang from an unexpected source—the arch-conservative clique which so long has accepted Chiang's leadership.

Wong is 59. He was director of the

The service closed with the singing of the traditional hymn "Holy God We Praise Thy Name" and those taking special part, left the church at the recessional. The following young ladies of the parish appeared in gowns: The Misses Genevieve Rexroth, Theresa Anthony, Betty Arter, Barbara Cochran, Anna Mae Adams, Margaret Weaver, Helen Shriver, Mildred Rindard, Mary Louise Kress, Jeannette Redding, Mary Ann Busbey, Jean Myers.

Chorus to Rehearse

The regular rehearsal of the Littlestown Men's chorus will be held Thursday at 9 p. m., in St. Paul's Lutheran church. It is important that every member of the chorus be present as this will be the last rehearsal before the American Legion Memorial Day services next Sunday at 6:30 p. m., in the Mt. Carmel cemetery. The chorus will sing at this service.

Sunday morning, completed three years' for St. Luke's Reformed church, White Hall, as a supply point for the pastor, the Rev. John C. Brumbach. During the service, the Rev. Mr. Brumbach recounted the many accomplishments of the congregation during that period. As a union church, during that period the 100th anniversary of the church was observed and a history of the 100 years was written jointly by the Rev. Dr. J. M. Myers, Lutheran pastor, and the Rev. Mr. Brumbach, Reformed pastor; brass candle holders and a missal stand were placed on the altar; and a two-manual Wurlitzer memorial organ and chimes were installed in the church and choir gowns were introduced.

The Rev. Mr. Brumbach also called to their attention that during this period as a Reformed congregation, they had four times paid the benevolent apportionment in full, and that they had also paid in full the first quota of the World Service Fund and were well started in their payment of the second quota. In addition they paid in full their quota of the Homewood Church Home (Hagerstown) building fund as well as the Rehabilitation Fund of the Seminary of the Evangelical and Reformed church at Lancaster. He congratulated them on these achievements and said that they were a reality because of cooperation. The Rev. Mr. Brumbach, who is pastor of Christ Reformed church, was appointed supply pastor of St. Luke's by Mercersburg Synod when it met in Trinity Church, Gettysburg, April 17 and 18, 1945.

Mrs. Bernard Shadle, daughter, Sandra, and son, William Franklin

II, East King street, spent the weekend at the home of her father, Jesse Wiles, Frederick.

The annual Mother-Daughter banquet of St. John's Lutheran church will be held Tuesday at 7 p. m., in the parish house of Grace Lutheran church, Two Taverns. This banquet is sponsored by the brotherhood of St. Johns, who will also attend the banquet. The entertainment committee consists of the Rev. Kenneth D. James, Walter Yingling and Lewis Lippy.

Dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Garland, East King street, on Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Weidman and daughter, Sue, Reading; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Fogelsonger, Chambersburg; and the Garlands' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Stover, daughter, Marilyn, and son, Larry Gene, York.
